Your assets. Our expertise.

McLarens Aviation is the leading provider of claims, risk and asset management services to the global aviation industry. Founded in 1964, we handle in excess of 3,500 assignments each year via a network of 32 locations worldwide. For over 50 years we have been the organisation that people turn to when they require the very highest levels of technical expertise, commercial support and integrity.

Headquartered in London, we have built one of the most comprehensive independent asset management capabilities in the business being an EASA, Bermudan and Cayman approved Continuing Airworthiness Management Organisation (CAMO) and holding both AS9100 and ISO9001 accreditations for the London Operation.

Our team includes dedicated in-house Project Managers, Powerplant Managers, Technical Services, Airworthiness and Planning Engineers plus all the equipment and software necessary to manage today's complex assets and bespoke CAMO services.

This strong platform allows us to offer a broad range of services from timely expert advice during a single aircraft acquisition, through to a full aircraft portfolio management function drawing on our many different capabilities.

Whether you are an individual acquiring an aircraft, an operator seeking efficiencies through outsourcing certain technical functions or a lessor looking for a trusted partner to support a large portfolio, McLarens Aviation has the solution.

An integrated approach

In today's challenging asset management environment, the demand is for a business partner that not only has a strong reputation and broad capability but also the consistency of approach.

Our integration of what are typically considered separate functions, such as project management, airworthiness oversight, powerplant services and risk management are all combined together to form ten core modules, providing a unique capability.

This allows you to draw on specific skills from just one or two of these modules, to support a particular need, or combine services from the ten modules to provide a true 'single source' solution.
